

WINNING WITH WILLIS

At Willis, our goal is to partner with Human Resources to drive business results. We accomplish this by augmenting traditional employer focused solutions with consumer based tools, resources and content promoting the health and wellbeing of your employee population. By supporting healthy lifestyles, we believe we can favorably impact claims costs, productivity measures and employee turnover. The effects of this strategy are transformational as we create the foundation for changing the individual behaviors that drive employer costs.

We are excited to have the Chairman of North American Employee Benefits, Mike Barton, conducting this webcast. You will learn about our approach and the tools that we are making available to clients and their employees.
